

ONE MORE BURDEN ON TAXPAYER

Council Votes to Have Him Pay
For the Cost of Paving
Intersections.

GIVES MORE MONEY TO SPEND

Constitution Stands in the Way, but "Americans" Need the Money and Nothing Will Stop Them.

In an effort to free the city from its financial embarrassment, the "American" members of the city council passed a resolution last night providing that property owners pay the entire expense of sidewalk improvements despite the fact that it is unconstitutional and a similar bill which was rushed through the legislature was vetoed by Gov. William Spry. Hereafter the property owners will have to pay the cost of curbs, repairs, and even the expense of meeting all intersections which the city is now paying for. This is estimated to save the city about $20,000, which can be squandered by the extravagant department.

Before the legislature met, the city officials wanted to introduce a resolution placing the entire cost of all public improvement upon the property owners. The city attorney held that it was unconstitutional under the present law and an appeal was made to the legislature. This bill which went through the legislature was vetoed by Gov. Spry because it would be too great an expense for the property owners to carry.

Councilmen Hodgson and Cowburn submitted a resolution which was passed asking the board of public works to compel Louis A. Gieseler to go ahead with the building for the section gas plant or that the contract, which expired 90 days ago, will be taken out of his hands. This has held the work on the intercepting sewer in check for several months.

OTHER ROUTINE

The street committee's recommendation to compel the Oregon Short Line to tear down the foot viaduct placed in on the north line of South Temple street running in through the new depot was laid over one week. The city attorney was asked to consult with the city engineer to ascertain whether the railroad company had violated its franchise, before any action was taken.

There were 120 applications from salaried and salaried for a renewal of their licenses presented to the council last night. They were all recommended.

The recommendation that the national on Sixth East street be torn up and replaced with asphaltum was defeated, only Black, Stewart, Wood and Readall voting for it.

The petition of Carl Peterson, secretary of the chief of police and Jesse I. Barrett, secretary of the fire department, asking for a raise in their salary to $100 a month, went to the finance committee.

The petition to pave and park Fourth East street from Brigham to Second South streets went over again despite the recommendations of the committee. Councilman Hall opposed it, saying that it was too extensive to maintain a park in the middle of the street.

THE HONEST PROPRIETARY MEDICINE

fills a national need in the land and it will take more than the cry of "fraud" and "fake" from the average, over-reaching physician to overthrow an honest, reliable and standard preparation like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from the roots and herbs of the field, and has cured more women of female ills than any other remedy we know of.

AFTER TWO COUNCILMEN.

Unless Councilman Readall and Stewart lay their politics within the next few days they will be declared delinquent and suit will be entered against them. The city needs the money and three men have been employed by Supervisor of Streets Jake Raleigh, who has issued orders to collect from everybody who is registered or listed in the city directory.

Several hundred names have been turned in and in a few days the city attorney will begin suits for the payment of the tax. This money is turned in to the "Intelligent Fund," which is subdividing under the extravagance of the administration. It will show a deficit in July at the rate it is being drawn on at the present time.

OBJECT TO STONG MEDICINES.

Many people object to taking the strong medicines usually prescribed by physicians for rheumatism. There is no need of internal treatment in any case of muscular or chronic rheumatism, and more than nine out of every ten cases of the disease are of one or the other of these varieties. When there is no fever and little (if any) swelling, you may know that it is rheumatism. To get Chamberlain's Liniment freely to apply quick relief. Try it. You are certain to be pleased with the relief which it affords. Price, 25 cents; large size, 50 cents. For sale by all druggists.

DUTCH POINT OF VIEW ON UTAH AND MORMONS

De Hollandsche Revue Devotes Fifteen Pages to Illustrations and Interview With S. Q. Cannon.

In the February number of De Hollandsche Revue appears a lengthy illustrated article on Utah and the Mormons. The Revue is a monthly magazine published at Haarlem, one of the leading cities of the Netherlands, and has an immense circulation throughout Holland and Belgium. Its editor is Frans Notcher, and Vincent Loosjes is the publisher.

A full page out of Elder Sylvester Q. Cannon, president of the Netherlands and Belgium mission, precedes the reading matter, and interspersed throughout the article are reproductions of the Prophet Joseph Smith, of Presidents Joseph F. Smith, John R. Winder and Anthony H. Lund, in a group, a family group of Elder Cannon, his wife, who was formerly Miss Winnie Saville, and their two children; the Salt Lake temple; interior of tabernacle; tabernacle grounds; Brigham Young monument; and last of all, the beautiful building that is the headquarters of the Church in Rotterdam, Holland.

In a short lead, the editor states that the story followed a conversation that he had with Elder Cannon, together with the editor's views of Utah and her people, gleaned from books in his possession. The writer assumes full responsibility for the article, and declares it to be his opinion that the Mormons are unrighteous and discourteously treated because of the ignorance, misunderstanding and prejudice existing in the minds of the general public concerning them.

Then follows the 15-page article, under the following headings: "The Organization of the Church," "Divine Revelation," "The Book of Mormon," "The Martyrdom," "Church Leadership," "Exodus to Utah," "Colonizing," "Polygamy," "Cannon Interview," "Tithing," "Fasting," "Polygamy," "Salt Lake City," "Newspapers, Publications and Progress," "Mormons in Holland," "The Simple Life."

The writer says that he was more than once surprised during the conversation with Mr. Cannon that the latter spoke such good, at least, graceful Dutch. From the cut and build of the head and the eyes it was plainly to be seen that he was not a Dutchman, while the accent and precise manner of speaking emphasized that fact. It was just as clear that he was not an Englishman—the tones were "too nasal." Perhaps he was of Dutch descent, thus accounting for the ease with which he expressed himself in the language and responsible for the fact that he had been chosen to preside over the Netherlands-Belgium mission. To a question in the line indicated Mr. Cannon answered:

"No, I am an American."

"But you speak remarkably good Dutch. Have you learned it here?" was the further question but by the magazine writer. This query elicited the answer that Elder Cannon first learned some time in Belgium, where he learned a little Dutch, after which he was transferred to Holland.

In conclusion the writer says: "As we said in the beginning of this article, the Mormons live in our midst as quiet, peaceable and orderly citizens. They annoy no one, antagonize no other, but legitimately disseminate a propaganda that they consider good for their fellowmen, and the foregoing, we hope, will confirm that impression. And let us add that they are an example of sobriety and continuity; they use no strong drink and they do not smoke."

"And when we sat conversing with Mr. Cannon, with his clear, open and honest face and somewhat fanatical eyes, there crept in a feeling such as we previously had experienced when considering the belief of other leaders of religious sects of which we have written. That feeling came over us when we wrote of Booth—Clubb, the former leader of the Salvation Army in our land. We experienced it with Velthuisen, clergyman of the Seventh Day Baptists in the Netherlands. They, as Mr. Cannon, are upright and faithful, and all believe that by their belief they will reach the right end, and they believe one point, and the other so; and all believe alike with but little difference. They are all seekers for adoration and happiness, all are seeking in this great wild life a small corner where with faith they may find and establish for themselves and for others a little happiness, pure, immortal happiness."

REAPPOINTED JUDGE GUNNELL.

Juvenile Court Commission Satisfied With Work of Ogden Man.

Volney G. Gunnell of Ogden was re-appointed yesterday as judge of the juvenile court in the second judicial district at a salary of $800 a year by the juvenile court commission. Further than this no more appointments were made. A. C. Nelson state superintendent, was appointed a committee of one to revise the salaries of probation officers and judges and suggest a new schedule at the next meeting, which will be held on Saturday. The board discussed with Major M. A. Breeden the duties of his office as executive secretary. The commission did not take action on the appointment of T. L. Irvine as clerk of the Salt Lake court, who was appointed by Mrs. Margaret Zane Witteber. Because of personal reasons, Commissioner John C. Mackay is opposed to Irvine and it is probable that there will be a fight on his salary which is to be fixed by the commission.

BOOKLET NEARLY READY.

Grand Army Souvenir Will Tell All About Salt Lake.

The souvenir booklet to be issued by the executive committee in charge of the G. A. R. encampment to be held in this city next August, will be ready for distribution in a few days. The booklet will contain 64 pages of printed matter and 20 full page pictures, descriptive of Salt Lake City and its main public buildings and scene in the city and state. Within the pages of the booklet will appear a brief historical sketch of the G. A. R. from the time of its organization in 1865 until the present, together with the number of encampments held and a complete list of the different commanders-in-chief. A history of the auxiliary organizations is contained in the book, including the Woman's Relief Corps, Ladies of the G. A. R., Ex-Prisoners of War, Naval War Veterans, Daughters of Veterans, Sons of Veterans, Spanish War Veterans, etc. A description of Salt Lake City will also be a feature, and a story of the pioneers, from the pen of Judge C. C. Goodwin is included.

Particulars concerning railroad rates, hotel accommodations, rates, etc., are also comprehensively presented, so that any person anywhere may have no difficulty in getting here and knowing just where to go after getting here to attend the encampment. A description of the invitation sent to President Taft is given, lists of the committees in charge of the various departments of the encampment, such as finance, diversion, free quarters, meeting places, etc., are given in detail. The booklet closes with the Gettysburg address of Abraham Lincoln, and the information that the word "welcome" will blaze forth in brilliant electric lights from the top of Ensign peak every evening from 8 till 11 o'clock during the period of the encampment.

WATCHING UNUSUAL CASE.

Berry Bridge, the 11-year-old son of Richard Bridge, the druggist, is recovering rapidly after the very serious operation he went through at the Groves L. B. Hospital last afternoon. The boy suffered from an attack of diphtheria following scarlet fever, and almost only been dead only six days. He lost both sight and hearing and was lapsing into unconsciousness. He was taken to the hospital at the Groves L. B. Hospital, Allen and Caldwell streets, where he underwent the operation. The case is a very unusual one and the doctors are watching it very closely.

FARMERS HURT BUSINESS.

William M. Roelance of Provo lectured yesterday afternoon before the business department of the L. D. S. U., speaking on "Communion Business." In the course of his remarks he said: "Utah farmers have injured themselves by selling inferior products, badly packed, on the market. They have experienced commission agents are handling the fact that Utah has the finest fruit in the Union. It is important to the farmer, and the farmers are getting a better price for their products."

CADETS IN TRIM FOR THE ADMIRAL

Great Preparations Have Been Made by High School Battalion.

REVIEW AT THREE O'CLOCK.

Welcome and Invitation is Extended To the People of This City to Witness Ceremonies.

Great preparations for receiving the admiral have been made at the high school. A full battalion of cadets will participate in the reception and the review. The admiral and party will arrive at the high school grounds at 3 p. m. and will be met by a party consisting of Gov. Spry and the members of his military staff; Lieut. Col. Williams, commandant at Fort Douglas, with his regimental staff; the post battalion commanding officers and their staffs, and Mayor John S. Bransford in behalf of Salt Lake City.

The admiral and party and the receiving party will proceed to the reviewing stand, and the review will proceed at once. More than 500 cadets will be in the review parade, together with their officers and brass band of 36 pieces and trumpet corps of eight pieces.

At the conclusion of the review, the organization will go through the ceremony of a retreat parade, which is said by those who know to be one of the prettiest things shown anywhere in the country in the way of military work. The battalion is divided into four companies, and will be commanded by Capt. W. C. Webb. The review and retreat parade should occupy one hour and 10 minutes. All the cadets and officers will appear in full dress.

A grandstand at the east end of the drill grounds at the high school is being constructed today, where the admiral and receiving party and invited guests, consisting of the school board, etc., will review the maneuvers of the cadets.
